CHILDREN'S PLAYGROUND

Appliances For The Little Ones Now Being Installed In Virginia Park.

PARKS NOW VERY POPULAR

Children's Corner Is On Ninth Street Front, East Side.

A great addition to the usefulness of Virginia Park is being made in the children's playground, which is now being erected in the lot left for that purpose in the southeast corner of the park. In connection with all the parks in the larger cities there are children's playgrounds and they have proven themselves to be of great value to the cities where they are found. For many years now the people of Hopkinsville have seen the need of a place where the young folks may enjoy themselves.

The children's playground lot has been leveled off and set up with iron bars from which will hang rings, swings and trapezes of different kinds and two teeter ladders. In the center of the grounds will be a big slide or "shoot the chutes." There will be opportunity for both the larger and smaller boys to exercise and play on the trapezes. A part will also be fitted up for the use of the girls.

Since they were built the parks have been the greatest source of pride to the people of the city. Every afternoon and evening throngs of strollers may be seen walking through them and on Sundays the people crowd the swings and on the walk by hundreds. It is estimated that during an average day nearly five hundred people will patronize the parks.

Both Virginia and Peace parks are now in beautiful condition. The favorable season for shrubbery has been taken advantage of by Custodian Gresham and the sides of walks have been transformed into bowers of blooming flowers. The shade trees are also well kept and inviting.

The children's playground has been the only thing the parks lacked to make them complete and the addition will fill a long felt need.

President Chas. F. Jarrett, of the Park Commission, gives a great deal of his time to the details of looking after the park, especially the improvements under way.

WM. F. MORRIS DIED MONDAY

Was The Father of Twenty-one Children, Youngest Two Years Old.

Mr. Wm. F. Morris, better known as "Buck" Morris, died at his home in Pembroke last Monday, in the 90th year of his age. He had been in feeble health for a long time. His wife is also very ill.

Mr. Morris was born in Virginia and came to Kentucky in 1862 and had lived at various places in the county ever since, most of the time at Pembroke. He was twice married and was the father of 21 children, 11 boys and 10 girls. Of these 11 was by his first wife and 10 by the second, the youngest being a daughter only two years old. Stonewall Morris, of this city and Jeff D. Morris, of Lexington, are two of his older sons. Many of his children were named for military heroes and statesmen, such as Stonewall Jackson, Jeff Davis, Jno. C. Breckenridge, Forrest, Cleveland and Goebel. One was named for James Corbett, the pugilist.

The interment was at Pembroke.

Man Who Used a Knife on W. R. Brumfield Is Now In Jail.

A J. Shelby, the white man who cut W. R. Brumfield about the head with a knife last May, was arrested at Lamasco, Lyon county, Tuesday and yesterday the sheriff of Lyon county brought him to Hopkinsville and he was placed in the county jail. Shelby disappeared at the time, but Constable T. S. Winfree found where he had gone and sent a warrant to Lyon county and he was taken in charge. Mr. Brumfield had a narrow escape from being severely injured, but his wounds did not disfigure him. Shelby was an employe on his truck farm.

London Times Declares Kaiser Made Statement of Deputation of Bankers.

London, July 14.—The German emperor, according to the Times, in a speech to a deputation of bankers who had insisted on an interview in order to point out to the emperor the financial difficulties of the situation and the grave risk attending the pursuance of the campaign through another winter, stated that the war would end in October.

The bankers are alleged to have declared that even if the war was brought to an end immediately and an indemnity obtained, Germany's position would be difficult, but that if the war was prolonged the German empire would become utterly bankrupt. It was in reply to these representations, according to the Times, that the emperor is understood to have declared that the war would end in October.

DECISION FOR CITY

Rendered By Judge Hanbery In Tax Case Yesterday.

Judge Hanbery yesterday announced his decision in the city license case, dissolving the temporary injunction granted Tandy & Fairleigh, who attacked the legality of the ordinance imposing a 25 cents tax a hoghead on tobacco. The court sustained the city on three points. These were, that the board of council as now constituted is a legal governing body for the city until the terms of office to which they were elected expire and have authority to exercise the rights of such a body; that there was no discrimination against the plaintiffs in the ordinance as it was passed; and that the purpose for which the ordinance levying the license tax was passed was sufficiently stated in it to make it legal.

RUSSIANS HAVE MADE STAND

Quiet Reigns Along The Western Battle Front This Week.

London, July 14.—Tuesday's session of parliament was marked by important announcements.

The chancellor of the exchequer, Reginald McKenna, announced in the house of commons that subscriptions to the new war loan had reached the unprecedented figures of nearly $3,000,000,000, not including small sums received at the postoffice.

Beyond the German claim that they have made further progress in their attacks near Souchez; the French air raid on the German lines of communications serving their front in the woivre, and repulses by both sides on the usual daily attacks, little has happened on the western front.

In the east operations are entering a new phase, the Russians having been successful in their counter offensive against the Austrians in the region of Krasnik. They have taken new positions in the hills north of that town, and apparently are waiting for the Austro-Germans to move. It is not expected that this will be long delayed, for General von Mackensen has had time to receive reinforcements and supplies.

The Balkan situation again is in the limelight as a result of disclosures that the Austro-Germans have offered Rumania alternative concessions, either to continue neutral or join the Germanic allies.

Turkish Warfare.

An associated press report says: "In Eashkala there is no one living now. But lately it was a flourishing and picturesque Asiatic city with many well-stocked stores and comfortable homes. Many of the houses were two-story structures of brick with tasteful balconies. There was an abundance of good rugs and some European furniture. The population comprised 1,500 Armenians, a few Jews and perhaps 3,600 Moslems. Of the Armenians, 500 women and children had been carried away and divided between the harems of Hassam Bey and Hashi Bey, Kurdish chiefs. The remainder had perished or fled."

Skidded Into Ditch.

Madisonville, Ky., July 14.—In attempting to cross a bridge, while returning from Hanson, north of here, the car driven by Letcher R. Fox skidded and fell into a deep ditch. In the car with Mr. Fox were Mrs. Sam Jones and two children. The top being up prevented the occupants from sustaining injuries, as all of them in the car fell under the machine into the slush. The car was considerably damaged.

Wilson a Winner.

The New York Sun has made a personal canvass of representative voters in the Republican and Democratic parties and concludes from the replies received that Wilson is sure of re-election if business conditions improve, and that Elihu Root is first choice for the Republican nomination for President, with Theodore Burton a strong second choice.

Harris-Wright.

News has been received of the wedding of Mrs. M. R. Wright to William A. Harris at Marion, Ill., on July 7. Mrs. Wright lived in this city until about two years ago, when she moved to Herrin, Ill. According to the German official figures, supplemented to some extent by foreign reports the Germans, Austrians and Turks had brought down not fewer than 136 hostile aircrafts up to June 22. Of these the largest number, namely 57, were lost by the French. The English lost 47. The Russians have fewer aeroplanes than their allies and their losses reached only 26. The official figures do not deal with Germany's own losses.

SEED OATS AND SMUT

Fungous Disease Causes Serious Loss to This Crop.

Trouble is Quite Noticeable After Plants Begin to Head—Annoyance May Be Prevented by Use of Some Good Solution.

(By C. B. HUTCHINSON, Missouri Experiment Station.)

Loose smut of oats is a fungous disease of the oat plant which causes serious losses to this crop. This disease is very noticeable after the plants begin to head, the flowers of infected plants being almost completely replaced by a mass of fine, black, dusty spores.

Oat smut may be prevented by soaking or sprinkling the seed thoroughly with some solution which will kill the spores without injuring the seed. The most common solution used is formalin and the treatment is made as follows:

Mix one pint of commercial formalin with 40 to 50 gallons of water in barrels or other convenient vessels. Immerse the oats in this solution, stirring well so that all will be thoroughly soaked. Pour off the solution, dump the oats out and stir occasionally until dry. Another method employed is to sprinkle the oats with the solution until they are well soaked, and then heap them up in a pile and cover with blankets or sacks. Leave them in this pile for five or six hours, or even overnight, and then spread out to dry. Stir frequently until thoroughly dried, after which they may be sacked and set aside until seeding time. Formalin may be obtained from any drug store.

Machines for treating oats and wheat for smut are on the market. In these the grain is passed through tank containing the formalin solution and then dumped out on the floor to dry. Such machines are not expensive and are very satisfactory. Formalin is poisonous, but in this weak solution it will not injure the hands and is perfectly safe to handle. Since the formalin volatilizes rapidly, oats thus treated that are not needed for seeding may, after thorough drying and airing be safely fed to stock.

RACK BETTER THAN TRELLIS

Collapsible Device for Tomato Plants, Bushes and Vines—Fruit Supported on All Sides.

A collapsible rack for tomato plants, bushes and vines can be made of plastering lath (chestnut lath preferred). Fig. 1 shows a complete rack put together and ready for use. Fig. 2 shows a collapsed half rack ready to store away.

To make the racks, cut cross-bars 16 inches long of lath, and nail them to the uprights with three-penny nails, using only one nail at each joint so that the rack will fold. The sections are fastened together, says Farm and Fireside, with wire rods 14 inches long, the ends of which are bent to fit into screw-eyes in the rack.

Cultivate the plants thoroughly until 1 1/2 or 2 feet high before placing racks about them. When they are 3 feet high and have four or five good fruit-clusters, pinch or cut off superfluous foliage and fresh growing sprouts. When fruit-clusters get heavy see that they are supported by the cross bars of the rack. This is the advantage of the rack; the fruit has support on all sides and does not break loose from the plant stem, as it often does when tied to stakes. When the season is over the racks can be stored in a small space ready for another season.

DON'T TOLERATE RED MITES

Dark, Dirty and Damp Houses Are Especially Adapted for the Breeding of These Insects.

(By R. G. WEATHERSTONE.)

I have known cases where sitting hens died while sitting upon the nest, traceable to no other cause than red mites, assisted in their propagation by filth, which had been allowed to accumulate in the nesting boxes and the floor of the henhouses. Dark, dirty and damp houses are especially adapted for the breeding of these insects and offer favorable conditions for their rapid multiplication.

By paying a visit to the henhouse at night and being equipped with a good light, these pests may be detected. If any are found, get busy, clean out every part of the house, overhaul the nesting boxes, burn up the nesting material, take down the roosts and paint them with lime paint or wash them off with a strong solution of disinfectant.

FOR BETTER ROADS

Department of Agriculture Gathering Information to Serve as Basis for Estimating Value.

The United States department of agriculture is now gathering information which, when complete, should not only give the total mileage of public roads in the United States and their cost, but should serve as a basis for estimating the relative value of the different kinds of highways. Some 15,000 sets of inquiry blanks have already been distributed through the state highway commissions, and some of these are now beginning to come back to the department. Each set consists of four cards.

Of these the first asks for information on the mileage of different classes of roads in the county to which it is sent. The mileage does not include, of course, streets in cities and towns. The roads are divided into ten classes as follows: Brick paved, concrete, macadam with the addition of some substance such as asphalt, oil, or tar, plain macadam, gravel, shell, other hard surfaced roads, sand and clay mixture properly graded and drained, ordinary earth roads properly constructed, and, finally, unimproved roads.

The second card asks for information in regard to the tax rate for the roads and the amount of work and money expended on them.

The third blank is concerned with the names of local road officials, and the fourth with facts in regard to the bond issues and the indebtedness of the counties for their road systems.

As there are approximately 3,000 counties in the United States, in many of which the mileage has never even been estimated, it is hardly probable that this preliminary survey will be exact. The department, however, will be able to detect any excessively inaccurate reports for the road mileage per square mile of territory does not vary excessively. Except in desert or undeveloped country less than half a mile of public road to every square mile of territory is rare, while, in the most thickly populated rural sections the maximum is no more than two and one-half or three miles. Thus, in France, there is an average for the entire country of 1.76 to a square mile. In Italy, however, this has fallen to .86, possibly on account of the mountainous character of much of the peninsula and of Sicily and Sardinia.

In America the average is approximately 80 miles, which, in view of the fact that much of the country is sparsely settled seems unduly high. An explanation, however, is to be found in the fact that in many states the law provides that each section line shall be a public road. Thus, for example, there are in the state of Iowa alone more than 104,000 miles of legal highways, manifestly a much larger mileage than is required by traffic.

When the information in regard to the existing roads which the department is now seeking is complete, it is the intention to continue the inquiry year after year in order to ascertain the durability and economy of the various kinds of highways. The data thus collected should be useful to road engineers all over the country and it is hoped that county agents and others interested in improvement of agriculture will do their best to facilitate the collection of the desired information.

Shortens the Distance.

There is nothing that shortens the distance between the farm and the market as much as good roads. It's the greatest economy the farmers can have.

Wide Tires to Stay.

The wide-tired wagon has come to stay. On our common earth roads and in the field a 50 per cent more load can be pulled on a wide-tired wagon than on one with narrow tires; then, again, the wide tires help in packing the road, while the narrow tires make the ruts.

Should Not Grumble.

The dairyman, whose products are particularly perishable, should be the last man on earth to grumble about having money for road improvement.

BEST KIND OF BARLEY

Common Six-Rowed Variety Has Been Found Preferable.

Plant is Shallow Feeder, Its Roots Growing Near Surface of Soil—No Crop Responds More Quickly to Good Tillage.

(By R. A. STONE.)

Barley commonly is classified as six-rowed, four-rowed and two-rowed. There are bearded, beardless and hull-less varieties under these classifications and there are also fall and spring varieties as in wheat. The term variety is used by seedsmen, plant breeders and farmers in a wider and less rigid sense than that applied by the botanist. Races of barley, the type of which has been materially changed by careful selection or cross breeding for a period of years, in common practice are designated as "varieties." Where a superior barley has been developed from a single seed and carried through a course of several years' breeding by selection or hybridization and selection and a record kept of the same, it is known as a pedigree barley.

Experiments with two-rowed barley through several years' breeding work, clearly prove that the farmer, generally speaking, can not get the returns from this crop that can be secured with the six-rowed variety. It is not as uniform in breeding as the six-rowed barley. The straw is frail and lodges easily, thereby injuring the quality of the grain and reducing the yield.

Barley is a shallow feeder, its roots growing near the surface of the soil. It does not feed so extensively as oats or wheat, therefore it requires a well subdued, mellow, rich soil with fertility near the surface. No crop responds more readily to good tillage and the prudent farmer soon finds that it will amply repay him to put extra cultivation with disk and fine tooth harrow upon the land in preparing a good mellow seed bed. It is useless to try to grow barley upon poor sandy lands or worn out soils, neither does it do well on ground that has been newly cleared, or where the land is in poor tilth or not well drained.

Hill of Tara.

Tara has become doubly dear to Irishmen from memories of the kings of Ireland and the famous "million meeting" of O'Connell. A few years ago the sacred hill was the scene of strange excavations, but not for the discovery of relics of those glorious days about which Moore sang in "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls." The search was made for the Ark of the Covenant, which some religious enthusiasts believed to be buried there! Their digging among the mounds was finally stopped by a storm of public protests. But the historic hill of Tara has already been closely connected with "alien nobility." It formed part of the property bestowed by the duke of Bedford on Lord John Russell, when created earl, in order that he might maintain the title with dignity.

NO CHANCE FOR AMERICANS

European Capitalists Practically Control Absolutely the Public Utilities of South America.

The railways, mines, municipal and public utilities in South America being financed almost entirely by European capital, the bankers in furnishing the funds have invariably stipulated as a condition to the loans, and where it was not implicitly stated it was clearly understood, that the materials to be purchased by the proceeds of the loans as well as the nationality of the management, engineers, etc., should come from or be of the country which furnished the capital. As a result of this, fully 90 per cent of the railways in the Argentine, comprising some 20,000 miles of railways, are managed entirely by European engineers and all the railway materials and general supplies have been purchased from Great Britain, Belgium, France and Germany, depending on the nationality of the management, and in which American manufacturers are not allowed to compete except in emergencies. In cases where the law stipulates that materials are to be purchased in open competition the specifications are drawn up in such a way by the European consulting engineers that American manufacturers have not been in a position to compete on an equal basis with their European rivals.

COULDN'T FORGET

She—Do you remember the time you rescued me at this very spot?
He—I should say so! Haven't I been married to you ever since?

NO USE BORROWING TROUBLE.

Mrs. McCauba—Here is a notice saying that if the bill is not paid the gas will be shut off.
Mr. McCauba—Let 'em shut it off. Who cares?
"But what will we do?"
"Put in electric lights."
"But in time the bill for them will come in."
"Oh, well, perhaps something else will be invented by that time."—
New York Weekly.

PUBLICITY NEEDED.

"Did you get an interview with old Mr. Scadson about his latest donation to charity?" asked the city editor.

"Sure," answered the star reporter.
"He said he didn't want to talk about it."

"The deuce!"
"But he nudged me in the ribs and said he didn't see any reason why I shouldn't talk about it all I pleased."

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

"You women," sneered Mr. Cobbles, "would rather hear about the discovery of a new preparation to improve your complexions than the invention of a torpedo-proof battleship."

"Why not?" replied Mrs. Cobbles, tranquilly. "When the world comes to its senses battleships will not be needed, but good complexions will be in greater demand than ever."

A PARADOXICAL CONDITION.

Mrs. Exe—Your maid is too familiar. You should make her keep her place.

Mrs. Wye—If I made her keep her place she'd quit her job.

MEANT THE PLANET.

plain Miss Mugg that she resembled Venus?

He—Well, she does; she looks so much better after dark.

ALL FOR HIM.

Mudge—Your wife certainly has a will of her own.
Meek—Yes, and I'm the sole beneficiary.—Boston Evening Transcript.

RIGHT ATTENTION TO COLTS

Good Work Horses and Mules Will Bring Remunerative Prices for Several Years to Come.

Horse owners cannot afford to give their colts indifferent care.
There is every indication that good work horses and mules will bring remunerative prices for several years.
The demand for army horses is taking a large number of light weight animals out of the country. Most of Prize-Winning Filly.

these will be replaced ultimately by heavier horses better suited for heavy farm work.

The size and value of the mature animal depends to a large extent on the feed and care it gets during colt-hood. It pays to give the colt a chance to make the most of its inherited possibility of development, for an extra 200 or 300 pounds make a striking difference in the selling price of a work horse or mule.

The maximum development is possible only when the colts are handled carefully and fed well during the first two or three years of their lives.

PROVIDE BEES WITH WATER

Place Fountain Near the Hives—Honey Secured From Goldenrod and Aster Is of Rich Flavor.

(By B. L. PUTNAM.)

When you see the bees clustering around the watering trough just provide them a fountain near their hives.
This will save time for them and there will be no more drowned bees and horses and other stock will not be stung as they come from the field, heated and perspiring—a fit mark for the angry bee.

Surround a board of convenient size with a narrow cleat an inch high, making the shallow trough water tight. Over this tack a piece of wire screen, being careful to leave no sharp edges that will hurt the bees. Fill with water and note the enjoyment with which the winged visitors flock and drink with no possibility of finding in it a fatal draft. They will drink lots of water now, and if you do not furnish the pure stuff they will hunt out the nearest cesspool for moisture they must have.

Do not worry if your fence row is bordered with goldenrod and aster.
You may not be impressed with the esthetic effect admired by your city cousins, but the bees revel in the sweets afforded and will, from the weeds, extract a supply of honey that will go a long way toward piecing out their winter store. Beside, goldenrod honey, when it can be secured in quantity, is food fit for kings, being of a rich amber hue and of superior flavor.

Remember that honey must ripen before it is ready for market. When first made it is thin and watery but after two or three weeks it acquires the consistency necessary to the first-class product.

Conversely, if kept in a damp place it soon gathers moisture and becomes seriously damaged. A cool, dry closet is preferable to the cellar for storing.

WELL-BRACED LONG LADDER

Weak and Dangerous Feature Overcome by Wire Brace—Strength Added at Little Expense.

Farmers who have occasion to use long ladders often find them weak and dangerous when set up at the proper angle. This can be overcome by a wire brace. Get a blacksmith to make two V-shaped irons, and fasten them to the side sills with small bolts. Bore small holes through sills at each end

Ladder Braced With Wire.

Take two pieces of No. 9 wire and fasten to the sills at one end by passing through the holes and forming a lock by turning the end back through the holes over small iron pins, then pass the wire over the V-irons, drawing them tight with a lever and fasten at the other ends in the same way.
This brace will more than double the strength of the ladder and add but little expense.

Approach of Foaling Time.

With the approach of foaling time the grain ration of the mare should be decreased. Use feeds such as bran and roots, as they are valuable. A roomy box stall or an open grassy lot is almost imperative. After foaling the mare should not be worked for from ten to fifteen days, and then but lightly.

Today is the climax of a hundred years of preparation.
Read in this timely, authoritative, complete, AND THE ONLY CONDENSED classic world history—of which over 2,000,000 copies have been sold in France alone—just what has taken place in the inner councils of Europe during the past one hundred years. Read in these entrancing pages how Russia has for years craftily been trying to escape from her darkness—to get a year-round open port, with its economic freedom.
Read how Germany and Austria, fearful of the monster's latent strength, have been trying to checkmate her and how they have pinned all in this last, supreme stake.

The Lesson of the Past

THIS master of the pen shows you the glory that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He guides you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of feudalism and the crusades; through the Renaissance up to contemporary history, which Prof.
Grosvenor completes in brilliant manner. In the story of the past he reveals the secrets of today. And you will understand them better when you get the Review of Reviews for a year—for the Review of Reviews will give you a sane interpretation of the events that are taking place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the reason why of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

225 Acre Farm For Sale

Meacham Farm Near Gracey To Be Sold For Division.

The A. W. Meacham farm, one mile northeast of Gracey, is offered for sale for division. It consists of three tracts of land, lying on both sides of the old Bellevue road. Two tracts of 112 and 45 acres lie along side each other on the South side of said road and the other of 68 acres is just across the road, on the North side. A cottage of seven rooms is on the large tract, with large barn, stable and other out-buildings.

A never failing stream of water, known as Meacham's branch, crosses the farm. A portion of the large tract is in timber. The farm is rented for 1915, but partial possession for seeding crops could be given in the fall. For further information apply to

Their Salaries Paid in Skins.

(United Mine Workers' Journal.)

It is not a generally known historical fact that from 1774 to 1784 territory now known as Tennessee formed a part of North Carolina, and that in 1785 the Tennesseans, becoming distinguished with their Government organized a State Government under the name of "Frankland," which was maintained for some years. The State thus organized was afterward disbanded and territorial Tennessee was again annexed to North Carolina, says a recent writer on the subject.

In 1838, in a speech by Daniel Webster on the currency, he gave the following as among the laws passed by the Legislature of the State of Frankland:

"Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Frankland, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, that from January 1, 1780, the salaries of this Commonwealth be as follows:

"His Excellency, the Governor, per annum, 1,000 deerskins.

"His Honor, the Chief Justice, per annum, 500 deerskins.

"The secretary to His Excellency, the Governor, per annum, 500 racoon skins.

"The Treasurer of the State, 450 racoon skins.

"Each County Clerk, 500 beaver skins.

"Clerk of House of Commons, 300 racoon skins.

"Members of the Assembly, per diem, three racoon skins.

"Justice's fees for signing a warrant, one muskrat skin.

"To the Constable for serving a warrant, one mink skin."

The July American Magazine.

The most striking and important article in the July American Magazine is an article entitled "Lord Kitchen's Great Bluff," in which is told for the first time the news that England has secretly raised an army four times as big as she has admitted—in other words, 4,000,000 instead of 1,000,000. The author of the article is J. Herbert Duckworth, an Englishman, who, for about ten years, has lived in New York City where he has been engaged in journalism. When the war broke out last summer he went to England where he remained through the fall and winter. While there he came confidentially into possession of the facts which he now publishes. No English journal has published the truth in regard to the matter and few Englishmen have even known the facts. Mr. Duckworth has been unwilling, until now, to publish what he has known for several months.

"Torpedoing" The Drinks.

Kansas City, Mo.—The submarine is the latest game bartenders and patrons who like to "shake" for the drinks are using to get around the Police Commissioners' order barring dice and card games from saloons. The man who gets "stuck" is "torpedoed" for the price of the drinks. A cork not quite an inch long is whittled into the shape of a submarine boat and placed in a glass two-thirds full of water. The "runner" stirs the water with a spoon. Naturally in its whirling movement the water is lower at the center and the cork remains there. As the movement of the water slackens, the level of the water in the center rises and the speed of the whirling cork lessens. It gradually slows up to a point of almost stopping, when suddenly it darts to the side of the glass opposite a number, and the person who takes it is "torpedoed" for the drinks.

Ministers Won't Be Used.

McChesney and his "machine" managers are likely to strike a snag in the carrying out of their boast that in the wind-up of the gubernatorial campaign they will "put a thousand preachers on the stump for McChesney." Many ministers have detected the "cigger in the woodpile," and on saying that while they might throw the weight of their influence on the side of State-wide prohibition if that was up as a square cut issue, they are not willing nor have they the inclination to "pull the chestnuts out of the fire" for a bunch of "political prohibiti nists," who are only using "State-wide" to fool the people and for a hobby to ride into office on. They say, too, that McChesney and his managers should show their consistency and good faith by first making an effort to vote Frankfort "dry"—Times.

FIGURES BY A BANKER

Showing That Too Much Money Is Being Sent Away.

While the people of Christian County are felicitating themselves on having fine farms and raising big hogs and good horses, and while the writer is an optimist and a "booster," it is the part of wisdom, some times to look at matters as they are and not as they seem or as we would wish them to be. In order to do that he has made some figures that may be interesting and which are submitted with a view to making some practical suggestions.

He has examined the published statement of the banks and finds that the average deposits, for the last six years, in round figures, are as follows:

In 1910.....	$1,650,000.00
In 1911.....	1,750,000.00
In 1912.....	2,000,000.00
In 1913.....	1,600,000.00
In 1914.....	1,800,000.00
In 1915.....	1,700,000.00

From this it will be seen that, for the first two years, beginning from 1910, the deposits increased in 1911 $100,000, and in 1912, $250,000, but in 1913 they fell off $100,000 and in 1915 another $100,000, instead of increasing as they had done the previous two years. In other words, if they had continued to increase at the rate of $100,000 a year they would now amount to $2,300,000, instead of $1,700,000; which shows an actual falling off of $600,000, or say, they are more than a half million dollars short of what the county should have, if conditions have been normal.

Some of this shortage can be accounted for by the practical failure of the corn and some forage crops the last two years, and the falling off in prices of some of the farm products. But it is no doubt true that our expenditures have increased, and that the articles bought and paid for have taken money out of the county instead of bringing it in. It is not necessary to particularize; we can easily see what they are if we have a mind to.

Now the question is, what shall we do about it? The scale must be turned if the county is to prosper as it should. We must sell more or buy less, or, which would be still better, do both. Too much of our money is going out of the County for things that are unprofitable, not to say actually harmful.

BLAZE OF OIL WAGON

Unusual Call On The Fire Department Yesterday Morning at 10:30.

The oil wagon owned by the city and stationed on East Fourth street near the railroad caught on fire. The wagon had been doing work on the street there. While preparing the oil for use the oil became too hot and boiled over, running into the fire pot, causing it to ignite. The fire department arrived quickly on the scene and the wagon was saved. The loss of the oil was the only serious damage done.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

A WOMAN WITH A FARM THAT COST HER TEN CENTS

In the current issue of the Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published at Springfield, Ohio, appears the following interesting account of a woman who has a little farm that cost her ten cents:

"Miss Serena Helen Blue of Minnesota is the owner of the smallest government homestead. A few weeks ago she went to the U. S. Land Office at Cass Lake, Minnesota, and in return for 10 cents received a deed to her homestead, which is little less than a tenth of an acre in size."

"It is a triangular point of land jutting into Furtle Lake, and measures 189 feet long by 38 feet wide in its widest part. To comply with the Homestead Law she built a log house and lived in it for seventeen months. The law required her to cultivate at least 218 square feet of the 3,484 square feet in her homestead, but instead she cultivated nearly half the area and raised tomatoes, cabbage, and clover."

"Miss Blue is twenty-seven years old."

READY FOR THE ROAD

THE Kentucky Tuberculosis Commission in an endeavor to reach the people of the rural districts of certain counties in the state has equipped an automobile with an entire outfit for producing moving pictures. Films regarding tuberculosis, supplemented by stereopticon slides and accompanied by a lecturer, were used last summer to reach over 21,000 people in nine different counties. Most of the demonstrations were given in the open air, besides country churches and schools, and in every case the teachers and physicians of the county have co-operated heartily in taking this message of good health to as many people as possible. The record attendance was 750 in one evening at a tiny village several miles from the railroad. This equipment will be used again during the coming summer.

Baby Spiders.

The parental love of the spider is very strong. The female carries, suspended on her legs, a small bag containing the eggs, which resemble white beads. If the bag is pushed away with a straw or stick, the creature will make the most desperate effort to recover it. A spider was once found whose back appeared to have a granulated surface, but closer examination showed that she was entirely covered with her young. On trying to shake them off, they attached themselves to their mother by a thread, and on throwing her to the ground, she remained perfectly quiet until they had all pulled themselves back by means of their extemporized cable, and spread themselves over her body as before.

Butterfly Family.

The butterfly is one of the higher of the myriad species of what are called moths, naturalists giving to the whole family the name of lepidoptera. The naturalist who simply studies the wonders and mysteries of nature cares nothing for learned names for varied genii. He glories in the fact that while gentle snow flakes fell a butterfly, orange yellow, flitted noiselessly within hearing of the complainings of lions, tigers, bears and hyenas, and the chattering of monkeys, all stolen from their native trees and jungles to afford entertainment for the children of men, fluttered up and down and around as if seeking the flower which as yet bloomed not.

VICIOUS ATTACK BY

NEGRO WOMAN.

Louisville, Ky., July 14.—Mrs. Major Taylor, beautiful young wife of Major Taylor, a grocer at Bardstown road and Longest avenue, may be disfigured for life as the result of stab wounds inflicted by Grace Rideout, 21, negro servant of the Taylors. Shortly before noon Mrs. Taylor accused the woman of having taken $6 from a pantry shelf. The negress became enraged and first attacked Mrs. Taylor with two heavy bottles. After throwing the bottles at her mistress, she next secured a butcher knife, stabbing Mrs. Taylor several times in the face and arm. Although bleeding from several wounds, Mrs. Taylor managed to disarm her assailant. Neighbors hearing the scuffle called the police.

Wild American Plums.

The wild North American plum has given rise to more cultivated varieties than any other of the native fruits except the grape. These varieties have mainly originated in the Mississippi valley, Iowa alone having furnished 175, Minnesota 74, and South Dakota 44. In Texas 97 varieties have originated. In these western and southern regions where several of the species appear to have reached their greatest perfection in the wild condition the greatest development in the future, under cultivation, may probably also be expected to take place. With few fruits has there been an equal opportunity to report step by step the advance which has been made since the original of the first named variety was planted and cultivated in a garden. A bulletin issued by the United States department of agriculture, places on record a distinct achievement of American horticulturists who have developed a fruit the value of which was long overlooked.

SEEK EVIDENCE OF THEORY

Scientific Expedition Endeavoring to Prove Existence of Land Bridge Across the Atlantic.

The gathering of further evidence to support the theory that there was once a land bridge stretching across the Atlantic from Newfoundland to Great Britain and thence to Scandinavia is one of the purposes of a geological expedition from Princeton university which will visit Newfoundland this summer. Similar parties from Princeton have conducted investigations along the southern bays of the island during the past three years and besides obtaining valuable collections of rocks, minerals and fossils, have made discoveries tending to solve various geological puzzles.

Prof. Gilbert Van Ingen, who has been at St. Johns, N. F., with two of the expeditions, found fossils bearing a marked resemblance to those unearthed in Wales and Sweden. This led him to formulate the theory that in prehistoric times it may have been possible for animals to travel on dry land across what now is the Atlantic ocean. He considered that this was supported by the fact that an underwater shelf of rock, upon which many telegraph cables have been laid in recent years, extends across the Atlantic.

UPLIFT MOVEMENT IN EGYPT

Women Are Now Being Educated, and Only Opposition Comes From Older Men of Country.

Egypt may seem far away and conservative. But it is not too far away or too conservative to be affected by the progress which is being made by the woman's movement today. Thirteen of the government schools for the training of teachers have been especially set apart for woman students and now have an attendance of 2,030 girls with 42 trained woman teachers. In one of these schools there were 138 applications for 13 student vacancies. Last year 2,867 small village schools had an attendance of 22,002 girls.

It is said that the old men of the country are opposed to this change in attitude toward women, but the younger men are more advanced in their ideas and want their wives to be educated. Some of them are sending their young wives to school or arranging to have them taught at home.

What this change means to the women themselves may be imagined on reading this description of her life as given by an uneducated harem woman: "I sit on one couch for a time, and when I get tired I cross over and sit on the other one."

TROUBLE MAKERS.

"Would you drop bombs on non-combatants, Mr. Pillbeck?"

"That depends on the circumstances. People are not always entitled to sympathy merely because they are noncombatants."

"Explain yourself."

"I was thinking of a certain class of diplomats. They never fight, but they are responsible for most of the fighting that is done."

DOESN'T HAVE TO.

"Is Maud one of those women who carry gossip around?"

"No, she has a telephone in her house."

THE SELFISH VIEWPOINT.

"Don't rock the boat!" said the careful man.

"Don't worry," replied the serene egotist. "I can swim."

POULTRY

TAME HENS LAY MOST EGGS

Poultry Keeper Must Be on Good Terms With Members of His Flock—Make Friends With Chicks.

When a man says his hens don't lay or pay, or both, a little observation will usually disclose the fact that his hens are too shy and nervous to stay on the nest long enough to lay an egg. Have you ever watched the successful poultry keeper, the one who is making poultry keeping pay, how his fowls run after him whenever he has occasion to enter the poultry yard? The best results cannot be obtained from hens that are wild and shy. The poultry keeper must be on good terms with his hens or his hens won't lay as they should. A hen that is so wild that she will fly off the nest or roost whenever anyone enters the poultry house cannot be a good layer. She is in a continual nervous state for fear someone will come within sight of her and hasn't time to think of laying eggs.

But there is another disadvantage beside the one that directly affects your pocketbook in having "wild" fowls. It isn't conducive to good temper to have your fowls start cackling and crowing every time you happen to get near them, nor is it very convenient when you have to chase a long-legged cockerel all over the place every time wife wants a chicken for dinner. Viewed from any angle the tame hen is by far the more desirable. It isn't hard to tame chickens. On the contrary, it is the easiest thing imaginable. It is simply a matter of being friendly whenever you are around the fowls, instead of throwing stones at them every time they get near you. But the fowls are by far the easiest to tame when young. Start making friends with your chicks this summer and your next hens will be tame ones.

RHODE ISLAND RED IS IDEAL

Hens Are Extra Good Mothers, Protecting Young as Few Fowls Do—Eggs Are in Demand.

I consider the Rhode Island Red as the farmer's ideal fowl, says a writer in Agriculturist. Its heavy covering of feathers helps to keep it warm so its food can be utilized more favorably for egg production. Its plump yellow body is as free as that of a white fowl from disfiguring dark pin feathers, always a disadvantage in marketing. The hens are extra good mothers, protecting their young as but few fowls do. The chickens grow fast and get to laying as soon as any other of the American breeds. They lay beautiful large brown eggs.

I have shipped eggs to a small city for the past two years and the grocery man says they sell better than any eggs he handles. I have raised poultry for 25 years and have kept Leghorns, Brahmas, Cochins, White Wyandottes, White Plymouth Rock fowls and crosses of these breeds and most of the time have had the Barred Plymouth Rock. It has always been a stand-by and still is a favorite. From my two pens of two-year-old Barred Plymouth Rock fowls during the past winter, I had an average of half as many eggs as hens, but the Rhode Island Red fowls did better than that.

Assist the Little Chicks.

This hot weather, if the chicks hatching in the incubator are among the last coming out and have already pipped and partly broken the shell about their head, you had better help them farther out at this point, as a chick dies quickly at this stage of hatching. To shut up the incubator and leave it another hour may mean a chick that is lifeless and past coming out next time you look.

Success and Failure.

Some people fail with chickens because they are easily discouraged. Others succeed for the simple reason that they keep hard at work, cleaning up, treating vermin, matching as much as possible. One must be persevering to succeed with poultry.

CUTS PROFITS OF EMPLOYER

Practice of "Sabotage," as Employed by Dissatisfied Workmen, Said to Have Begun in England.

Sabotage, a method of "direct action" advocated by syndicalists and by the Industrial Workers of the World in this country, means, briefly, doing one's work with intentional incompetency. Although the word is of French origin, and the system owes its adoption as an organized method to the action of French laborers, sabotage is said to have been first practiced by English workmen, who called it "Ca' canny," a Scotch phrase meaning "Go slow." It has been described as "striking without leaving the pay roll," the workman who practices sabotage simply turns out bad work, continues to amuse his employer and decrease the value of his employer's output, without actually "going on strike." There are many different kinds of sabotage, from the "open-mouth strike," in which the employee takes pains to inform the public of any adulteration, weakness or dishonesty in his employer's methods, to the actual wrecking of the machinery, which may result in injury and loss of life; of course there are ways of being careless in every industry. Several suggestions have been made as to the origin of the word, which is obviously derived from the French "sabot," but it probably means to go clumsily "as one wearing wooden shoes." The accent is slightly on the first and last syllables, but is nearly even: The first "a" is pronounced as in "at," "o" as in "go," and the second "a" is broad; "g" has the soft French sound of "jh." It is interesting to note that the socialist party has gone on record as opposed to sabotage, along with other forms of violence.

YALE IS "Y'S"

She—The regatta was great. Yale's captain yelled "win," and they did.

He—A word to the "Y's" is sufficient.

"COON" ADOPTED KITTENS.

A large raccoon, mistaking an open door at the home of William Clayton of Murphy, N. C., for an invitation to walk in and make herself at home, went on an exploring expedition and found a basket of kittens which it adopted, after chasing the mother cat away.

When Clayton returned home he hunted for the kittens, and in feeling under the bed he felt a sharp, stinging sensation. Investigation revealed the raccoon, with the strange brood at its side. Clayton declares the animal can stay as long as it behaves and exerts no evil influence over the kittens.

RARE EXPERIENCE.

"I would like to pay a bill," said the caller.

The doctor looked at him curiously for a moment. "Are you quite sure about that?" he asked.

"Why, of course. Here's the money."

"Thanks. I'll write a receipt for you. Pardon my question. You are the first person who ever told me that he would like to pay a bill."

CARRYING IT OUT.

"Chinamen are as alike as two peas."

"Even to having the same queues."

SURE TIP.

"I have some money to invest and I'd like to take a little flyer. Can you give me a good tip?"

"Certainly. Try aviation stock."

RIGHT PLACE.

"There's too much horseplay in your musical farce."

"Oh, that's only in the pony ball let."

GETTING RID OF FLY

Only Sure Way Is to Keep Things Cleaned Up.

Prevent Pests Breeding, and There Will Be No Problem to Solve in Hot Weather—Manure Pile and Garbage Pail.

The only rational and sure way to get rid of the fly is to prevent breeding—clean up. Next to keeping the premises cleaned up, the most important thing is to keep the houses well screened. Those that do get into the home should be killed. It is especially important to kill those that appear early in the season. One fly killed now means millions less in August.

The house fly breeds, usually, in fresh manure. The more of this waste that is allowed near the house the more will the dwelling be infested with flies. Not only do flies breed in filth, but they have filthy habits. They are distributors of disease germs of all kinds, including tuberculosis germs. Extreme care should be taken, therefore, to destroy breeding places and to keep flies out of the house.

After you have excluded Mr. Fly from your house next turn your attention to your garbage pail. This is one of the great breeding places for germs of all sorts. Don't be content because the garbage man has emptied your pail. It must be cleaned. If in no other way, put a few newspapers in the bottom of it and burn them. Heat is a simple disinfectant. If possible pour a bit of kerosene or an oil disinfectant on the papers and place the cover part way over the pail. This will rid your garbage pail of any germs. Remember that only by sanitation can fevers and various other diseases be prevented.

The department of agriculture has just promulgated the following method: Powdered borax is sprinkled over the manure at intervals of five days. The quantity used is .62 of a pound to eight bushels of manure. The University of Wisconsin recommends the use of arsenic.

Hutchinson of the department of agriculture says that when manure is so spread out that it rapidly dries out flies will not use it as a place in which to deposit eggs. The department recommends that manure be scattered on the fields and thus be rapidly dried out. This is even more effective than treating it in boxes with borax, iron sulphate or paris green.

To prevent flies from breeding in stable manure several procedures are advised. Some of these are: Prompt removal. From fly to fly—through egg, larva and pupa, the stages when the insect must stay in one place—varies at different seasons of the year. In the hottest weather it is never less than ten days. Therefore, if the manure bins are emptied once a week the flies will not reach maturity in the vicinity where the eggs are laid.

Screening of manure bins. This is even a more difficult procedure than screening a house against flies. The female fly, ready to lay, will try harder to reach a good laying place than flies do to reach a good feeding place. Nevertheless it can be accomplished.

The larvae can be killed according to the method of Forbes. A barrel of a solution of sulphate of iron, two pounds to the gallon, is kept in the stable. Each day some of this solution is sprinkled in the manure box and on the floor where the droppings fall. The cost is about a cent a horse a day. The manure is not harmed. The stable is deodorized.

Number Tags on Fishes.

An idea of what is being learned by scientific study of fish life in the waters off the coast of Norway was given by Dr. John Hjort in a recent lecture. Fishes bearing numbered tags have been systematically released during a number of years, and the records of the time and place of release and subsequent capture, with other facts, have been carefully kept. In this way much has been learned of migration and of growth and age as indicated by annual rings on the scales. It has been shown that growth is more rapid in favorable years than in others. The basis of an estimate of the catch of any season to the number of fish available has been obtained. This ratio for the common food fishes being about one to ten.

Inventor Ahead of His Time.

Fifty or more years ago a Birmingham, (Eng.) inventor manufactured an airship very much on the lines of the modern Zeppelin, which it was suggested could be used for bomb-dropping in the event of invasion. The idea was laughed at by the scientists of the day as being impossible, and certainly unworthy the attention of any civilized nation. So the man's invention was literally killed by ridicule, and the machine, in which several flights were made was eventually destroyed by fire as a means of effectually removing any further cause for sarcasm.

Woman's Greatest Trouble.

Big Sandy, Teon.—Mrs. Lucy Cantrell, of this place, says: "Every two weeks, I had to go to bed and stay there several days. I suffered untold misery. Nothing seemed to help me, until I tried Cardui, the woman's tonic. Although I had been afflicted with womanly weakness for seven years, Cardui helped me more than anything else ever did. It is surely the best tonic for women on earth." Weakness is woman's greatest trouble. Cardui is woman's greatest medicine, because it overcomes that weakness and brings back strength. In the past 50 years, Cardui helped over a million women. Try it for your troubles, today.—Advertisement.

MAN TO BE PITIED

Born Dissenter Finds Himself With Few Friends.

The World Hesitates to Believe in the Honesty of Such an Individual, Though He May Consider Himself Independent.

The born dissenter generally merits a share of the world's frowns which he somehow manages to evade. Perhaps it is because the world pities him, and what it pities it hesitates to frown upon. But a lively soul abhors pity as much as it does condemnation. Not the born dissenter, however. If he abhors anything it is the thought that some day he will miss an opportunity to exhibit his talent for dissenting in a situation where his example would influence others to see his conception of right. He denies himself tobacco not because he does not like it, but because he likes to have his friends believe that he thinks it injurious, and has the strength to do without it. In the midst of a social gathering he pleads a business engagement as an excuse for leaving. He has no business engagement, but it pleases him to think that he has impressed a certain group of persons with his attention to business, even in the face of a pleasant alternative. In matters of politics and religion and other things that do not immediately touch his pocketbook, his opinion is generally contrary to that of the majority, not because that is the way he thinks, but because to be with the majority is to be merely one of the mob, and to admit the possession of intellectual attributes hardly above the ordinary. He calls this independence, and as often as not he is admired for it. He is also commended for his virtues. They are stern virtues, and he clings to them successfully. As a matter of fact, they are negative virtues, and all of them involve his penchant for dissension. He is good because, to his way of thinking, the vast majority of persons are not good. He is, therefore, different and better, and this is distinction enough for him. The only trouble with him is that he has frozen the soul out of himself. His kindness consists in avoiding opportunities to be unkind, and since kindness is the greatest of human virtues he is forced to live a frigid existence in the alleyways of life, and men pity him.—Exchange.

DOOR CANNOT BE FORCED

Inventor Claims He Has Produced Lock That Can Defy Most Modern Burglars.

A lock that cannot be jimmied has long been the goal toward which locksmiths have been striving. Many have been invented, but all have proved failures, because any bolt that shoots horizontally from door to jamb can be forced by a skillful burglar. A patent has recently been issued, however, for a lock in which the bolts drop perpendicularly into sockets and thus fasten the door just as it is hung upon its hinges.

No burglar can jimmy a hinge. In the first place, the hinge is so situated that it is out of sight and reach; in the second place, prying with a jimmy makes the hinge hold tighter. This is precisely what is claimed for this new lock. The illustration shows it open. When it is closed by turning the key the bolts go right through the sockets and penetrate nearly a quarter of an inch into sockets on the body of the lock, as shown by the dotted lines.

Outside the room nothing shows but a metal circle, and this is concave and countersunk, so that no jimmy can get purchase. It is claimed that the more a burglar tries to pry at this lock the more firmly does it close the door.

Millions in Pigs.

The total value of the pig industry in Ireland increased from £6,887,000 in 1905 to £8,146,000 in 1914. Bacon-curing is carried on by about fifty firms, employing approximately 3,000 hands, and Ireland exports about one-fifth of the total import of bacon to the United Kingdom. The Irish laborer and his family grow more and more reluctant, a departmental committee states, to feed and look after pigs, the increased value of the returns from poultry and eggs inclining them rather to that source of income. Small holders do the pig-raising.

His Guess.

"There's only one seat left for tonight, and that's behind a post," said the man in the theater ticket office. "How much is it?" "Why, two dollars." "What's the matter? Isn't the show worth seeing?"
